ABOUT ME

I'm a graphic designer by trade who's worked extensively on building technical skills with various front-end languages towards becoming a front-end developer. I've learnt important transferable skills from my past working experience that will benefit me in an entirely new and challenging industry. I highly recommend you take a look at the website I've created in order to showcase my web development skills.

PROJECTS (all available on my website)

- TinDog "Startup" Project: created a landing page website using HTML, Bootstrap features and advanced CSS.
- Memo Note Keeper: created a website that closely mimicks the "Google Keep" note-taking service which allows users to simply create and delete plain-text notes. This website uses HTML, CSS and React.js.
- Simon Game: This app is the online version of the classic short-term memory game with its circular design and 4 illuminated buttons. This website uses HTML, CSS and JavaScript.
